

I Will Be Your Lover

Words and music by Peter Brunette

1.

D A7
A frost was on the dogwood tree,
D A7
February's tracery,
G
But then you flashed a smile at me
Em A7
And winter turned to spring.
D A7
A gentle breeze began to blow,
D
Crocuses poked through the snow,
G
Butterflies flew to and fro,
Em A7 D D7
And birds began to sing.

CHORUS:

G D Bm
And I will be your lover,
G D Bm
Give you warmth and cover
Em A7
While the stars still hover
D
In the midnight blue.
G D Bm
I'll gaze at you intently,
G D Bm
And, just incident'ly,
Em A7
Whisper soft and gently,
D
"Darling, I love you."

2

D A7

When doubts were swirling round my head,
D
You took down the Murphy bed,

G

Batted your eyelash, and said,
Em A7
"Don't be a silly boy."
D A7
Well, then my pulse began to surge.
D
From that funk I did emerge.
G
Suddenly, my sorry dirge
Em A7 D D7
Became an ode to joy.

CHORUS:

G D Bm
And I will be your lover,
G D Bm
Give you warmth and cover
Em A7
While the stars still hover
D
In the midnight blue.
G D Bm
I'll gaze at you intently,
G D Bm
And, just incident'ly,
Em A7
Whisper soft and gently,
D
"Darling, I love you."

3.

D A7
When life was full of toil and care
D
And the cupboards all were bare,
G
You let down your satin hair
Em A7
And set the world aglow.
D A7
And when I stood on shifting sand,
D
You held out a guiding hand,

G
Led me to the promised land
Em A7 D D7
Where milk and honey flow.

CHORUS:

G D Bm
And I will be your lover,
G D Bm
Give you warmth and cover
Em A7
While the stars still hover
D
In the midnight blue.
G D Bm
I'll gaze at you intently,
G D Bm
And, just incident'ly,
Em A7
Whisper soft and gently,
D
"Darling, I love you."
